DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-39, drawn to a method to characterize a subsurface formation using a rotation of the instrument, classified in class 324, subclass 343.
- II. Claims 40-57, drawn to a method to characterizing a subsurface formation using a cross plotting of two directional logging measurements, classified in class 702, subclass 7.
- III. Claims 58-71, drawn to an apparatus for measuring formation characteristics comprising transmitter/receiver pairs having different angles, the transmitter of one pair having the same angle of the receiver of the other pair, classified in class 324, subclass 343.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions in Group I and Group III are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct from each other if they are shown to be separately usable. In the instant case, the invention in Group I has separate utility such as not requiring the common angle of a transmitter of one pair and a receiver of another pair as required in Group III, and the invention in Group III has a separate utility as not requiring any rotation of the instrument as required in Group I. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

Art Unit: 2862

Inventions in Group I or III and the invention in Group II are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct from each other if they are shown to be separately usable. In the instant case, the invention in Group II has separate utility such as not requiring the transmitter/receiver structure as recite in Group I or III, and the inventions in Group I or III have a separate utility as not requiring a cross-plotting of logging measurements as required in Group II. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR . 1.143).

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
